

My Valuable Teaching Experience!

My name is Viktoriia Hryhorash and I am an associate professor at Odesa National I.I. Mechnikov University (Ukraine). In October 2022, I had a fantastic opportunity to present my brief course in ‘Sociolinguistics and Varieties of English’ to the students of the Department of Political Science. I was impressed by everything: a bit hectic atmosphere, but at the same time cosiness of Naples, friendly and smiling people, delicious local food and beverages. However, it is the University, its professors and students that made the most favourable impression on me. Lecturing at one of the oldest universities in the south of Italy among the real professionals, professors who are passionate about what they teach and how they do it, was a pleasure for me. I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Christina Pennarola, Settimio Stallone, Sole Alba Zollo, Federico Gaspari and David de Simone for their constant support and warm welcome. I would also like to thank the students who visited my classes and actively took part in discussions. The University of Federico II and the vibrant city of Naples will always be in my heart!
